

50 Problem Solving Activities

This manual contains 50 trainer-led activities designed to enhance the ability of individuals, groups and organizations to solve problems in a creative and effective way. The material covers the entire problem solving process, from establishing whether there really is one in the first place through to monitoring the results of implementing the chosen solution. Among the other aspects addressed are: how to create an organizational environment which will encourage proactive problem solving; ethical issues in problem solving; and how to overcome obstacles to successful problem solving. In addition, there are activities for pre- and post-course evaluation, icebreaking introductions and stimulating ways to end courses. Each activity contains detailed guidance for the trainer and ready-to-copy masters for all material required by the participants. There is something here for every trainer, irrespective of the type of organization they work in, the level at which they are training or the nature of the problems to be solved.
